WILLIAM WILSON Passes away

The Veteran and Popular Librarian of the State Senate Dies After Long Illness.

SENATE HONORS HIS MEMORY

Adopts Resolutions Reciting His Faithful Service and Will Attend Funeral To-day.

After an illness of several months, Mr. William Wilson, librarian of the State Senate, affectionately known among leg-

-Mr. Wilson became one of the idely known men in the State, the widely known men in the State, incely loved by all with whom he e in contact. His courtesy and amlary wor him scores of staunch friends he changing legislatures, and it is ried that after many of the erstatent members had left, some to reach er stations in political life, rememd "Uncie Billy" through the passage he years, and occasionally dropped a letter referring to old times. When senate met this year its faithful old ant was ill and could not attend session. He had been sick someths, suffering from a general breaknand gradually grew worse. A few ago a small party of senators vistinced that the librarian would never this poet again. The next day the telegated a resolution expressive sergret at his continued illness.

Senate to Attend Funeral.

It is no exaggeration to say that the mountesment of the death of "Uncle dilly" cast a gloom over the entire Capoli After tender references to the Ilbram by Mr. Keezell, of Rockingham; Mr. Vickham, of Hanover; Mr. Chapman, of reene, and Mr. Echols, of Augusta, the enate, standing, adopted this resolution, fered by the Rockingham senator:

Resolved, That the Senate has beard with the profoundest grief of the death of its beloved librarian, Mr. William Wilson, which occurred last night at 11:39 o'clock.

For more than a third of a century he was connected, in one way or another, with the Senate, and by his faithfulness to duty, his uniform courtesy and ambility, he endeared himself to all with whom he came in contact.

was sufficient, if properly enforced, to stamp out the fake clubs, and that there was no necessity for a change that would have the effect of dragging in the bona fide clubs. He pointed to the case of Norfolk city, which has rooted up the fake clubs. No more fake clubs, he said, could be formed and those I nexistence were dwindling awdy. Their very exfistence was a violation of the law, and if the law were simply enforced there would be no more fake clubs. He asked particularly that no such onerous and objectionable burden as that proposed by Judge Mann be placed upon clubs like the Westmoreland, the Commonwealth, the Virginia, the Elks' Home.

Much the same argument was applied by Mr. Kelley to the distilleries. If the distilleries are violating the laws, he declared, they could be prosecuted and made to observe the law.

The Other Side.

The Other Side.

Constitution declares. It has been already apparent, however, that there might be conflict between the boards and the commissioner under existing laws and undership of the commissioner has however, been conservative in his construction of the law relative to his authority; yet is certain that an irreconcilable conflict might easily arise between such officer and the hospital beards as to their several duties, nowers and authority. A commissioner who feels his importance or desires self-magnification, might easily undertake to get over the line and clash with the boards. We are not attempting to prophesy when we say that such will be the case in Virginia under existing conditions, before many commissioners have served their terms and certainly will be if the present bill becomes a part of our statute law.

Should the Legislature change passent conditions and make this office, in addition to lis functions as an auditing department, a scientific one, also, blucing therein a man who shall be charged, but only with the proper disbursement of all moneys, but who shall undertake to and be required to direct the medical department of these hospitals as well, confusion was an auditing therein a man who shall be charged, but only with the proper disbursement of all moneys, but who shall undertake to and be required to direct the medical department of these hospitals as well, confusion worse confounded will at once prevail and few physicians of spirit, and few gentlemen of self-respect, will oe found to serve as superintendents or is nembers of the various boards.

There will then be no uncentive to a superintendent. No matter what he navido no matter to what height he may have raised his hospitals, line red will sensently be regarded as the supreme head, and winden the proper shall may a full and resolute charge of the hospitals will skined make this confusion of the scale of the hospitals will skined make this confusion of the scale of the hospitals will skined make this

LEXINGTON, KY., February 21.—Mrs.
Kitty G. Forsythe, of Pulaski, Va., sister of the famous Confederate cavalry leader, General John H. Morgan, and widow of the noted Confederate General A. P. Hill, has been sued in this city for back taxes on $425,000. Through the suit the wealth of the distinguished Virginia woman becomes the means of a test of Kentucky's tax laws. Back Tax Collector Willa Viley is attempting to ascertain if a tax can be collected from personal property, which is in the State of Kentucky and owned by a non-resident. The Kentucky currs have decided that personal property, the situs of which is in Kentucky.

WHITE CONFIDENT WILL REACH AN AGREEMENT

(By Associated Press.)

ALGECIRAS, February 21.—Although the continued Franco-German deadlock causes a feeling of depression and discouragement among the delegates to the Moroccan conference, Ambassador White, head of the American mission, maintains full confidence that an ultimate agreement will be reached, and says there is no reason whatever to regard an uxderstanding as impossible. His strong optimism is in rather marked contrast with the pessimism prevailing in other quarters, particularly among the French and British, who take the view that the

Dr. Cochran was removed to the Memorial Hospital, where he is receiving the best medical attention and nursing.
While Dr. Cochran is a despezately III man, there was perhaps a slight improvement in his condition late last night. The doctors attending the popular legislator have been so far unable to definitely determine the cause of his illness, but they all agree that he is in a serious condition. Members of Dr. Cochran's family in Fauquier county have been telegraphed for and are expected to-day.
